Bulletin Bullets
BY
HARRY R. FARMER

A president is a guy who worries a lot. Some people give him a title. He worries about the welfare of the people and he'll be put to the test of his capacity.

After seeing some of the legs on Jasper one realizes what a billiard table would look like in short skirts.

Another fellow is getting chummy with a head waiter. He can borrow his clothes when he's not working.

And on the other hand, three ladies with underlinings like a nightgown's are not necessarily musical.

"Many young men are studying to become radio announcers," a news item says.—Wojas means, "studying".

A humane lady suggests that soft violin music should be played in shops in order to soothe the nerves of cattle about to be slaughtered.—Why not bagpipes, and make 'em glad to die?

Sitting on the board side of the street car is unhygienic—Why not have a seat on the board side?

Border Cities Star says: "Canadians should use Canadian coal." Who will give the necessary lead?—Must mean slate, not lead.

Plan for proposed bridge centre, Queen Mary has gone home without asking permission of the Journal. King Edward's bridge will be a bridge, not a home.

Alma MacPherson still thinks she was kidnapped, and her more witnesses of the full-Mills murder have been found. That's practically all the news that is to print.

News wire says the ghost of Valentino is pleased at the flattery the dead actor has received.—Ain't ghosts silly.

Re-me-hoo. Fine. Chief Jovis invents a new word. He is pleased to be able to publish this of the saint chief threatened.

The witch stringed a wire on our fair city. It started in the police court when MacPherson Murphy threw away the case one of the mayor's candidates had given her.

Magistrate Murphy has thrown Premier Thompson down by denying that he's her cousin. And we're in a position to know absolutely that Mr. MacQueen was ever convicted of bookkeeping.

A NEW ENCYCLOPEDIA
125-126 The Rabbit

Instead of hunting and wild bees I'd think the journalist would praise the rabbit.

A clever girl. And modest with it too. He doesn't lose of rating early. And so news feelings are and surely in me and you.

But you should see him at artifice. My word! he's dead. And learned eye, who to his ways are we.

Admit to us the marvelous. How rapidly the rabbit multiplies.

DAILY HOROSCOPE
This is an unlucky day for signing a. O. K.'s. It's just as unlucky for accepting them. Boys born today will be bald later on.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
Keeping canaries as egg producers is unprofitable. Be careful how you say, "Thank you," when asked to take a drink. Some folks make you mean. Mumps makes the face look plumper, but otherwise it's no value.

Mayorality Candidate Clearly Outlines Position on Civic Problems

With his organization committee functioning smoothly and meetings being arranged at a number of the downtown business and manufacturing plants as well as at the C.N.R. shops at Calder, and the various packing plants and other industrial concerns in the city, A. G. Murray, mayorality candidate for 1927, is taking the field actively this week, and from now until election day will be in his committee rooms or making an intensive personal campaign throughout the city.

Four Years' Experience

"In submitting myself to the election of Mayorality at the approaching municipal elections, I ask their support not on the ground of some previous experience, but on the ground of the fact that I recognize the chief problems which confront the city and the lines along which their solution can best be found.
